I never thought I'd send my kids to Jewish day school, but we love the community of parents and the way the school cultivates a passion for learning.

We wanted a school that viewed education with the "whole-child" approach—focusing not only on the academic accomplishments but also on developing emotional intelligence, leadership and good citizenship. In other words: raising a mensch.

Giving children the opportunity to experience this education, this place, is a priceless gift that will inform the rest of their lives.

The Samis Land Company has also established the Samuel Israel Foundation, a supporting foundation of the Jewish Federation of Greater Seattle. It has allocated grants for the 2015 fiscal year to the following:

Washington State Holocaust Education Resource Center, Jewish Family Services Operations, Jewish Family Services Food Bank, Jewish Federation of Greater Seattle's Education Services, Sephardic Religious School, and Congregation Shaarei Teshuvah (Jewish Prisoner Services)

TOTAL: $111,500
